Quality Assurance and RARPA

How to ensure high quality in your non-qualification SEND provision

An interactive workshop for quality managers and curriculum managers in post-16 settings to support the rigorous quality assurance of non-accredited SEND provision.

Most providers have introduced more personalised programmes for their learners in response to the SEND reforms and flexible funding for 16-19 Study Programmes. Many programmes do not include qualifications. Without the rigours of external assessment, or the verification required by an awarding organisation, how can you assure quality provision?

This workshop will

- Set out the benefits of quality assuring RARPA
- Enable you to complete an on-the-spot high-level self-assessment of your RARPA processes
- Explain how to compete a thorough internal review of your own RARPA provision and processes
- Explain how you can organise and undertake an external check by peer review
- Introduce you to the tools and resources available on the SEND Exhibition Site to support you in quality assuring RARPA

As well as benefiting from the expertise of the specialist trainer, you will have the chance to share practice with other delegates and begin to work on action planning for your own quality review.

Interested?

This one-day session is available as an external training session or can be delivered in-house for an individual provider.

To register your interest in an external training session in your region or to request in-house training, please contact transform@natspec.org.uk

Did you know…?

For an additional fee, the trainer can also

- support you to undertake an internal RARPA review
- complete an external review of your RARPA provision and processes
- work with you to implement identified actions for improvement in relation to RARPA.